

Village TIF Commission named

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

PONTON BEACH — A four-member Tax Increment Financing Commission was appointed Tuesday night by Mayor Glen Wilson. The appointments were ratified by the Board of Trustees.

Named to serve on the commission were Trustees Louis Whitsell, chairman, and Robert Vincent and Bob Abel, plus Don McNew.

McNew is village zoning administrator and served as a member of the Board of Trustees in past years.

"I will complete the list of appointees to the commission at a later date," Wilson said. An additional appointment may be made from the Pontoon Beach Public Water District Board, he said.

Wilson said that, with a TIF commission, a lot of time can be saved if any problems come up.

"It also will get more people

involved. Right now if something about TIF comes up at the (board) meeting, we talk and talk about it and we don't get anything else done," he said.

The commission will function in accord with state statutes and operate similar to a zoning commission by making recommendations to the Village Board of Trustees, Whitsell said.

"The way I see it, the developer can meet with the commission, which then recommends certain actions to the board (of trustees)," he said.

The TIF Commission will meet on the first and third Tuesday of each month at 8 p.m. in the Village Hall.

Two TIF districts have been established within the village boundaries in the past nine months and setting up a third district is being considered.

Districts already established by the Board of Trustees are:

Chouteau Trace I, a multiple-use development of 68 acres located on the west side of Illinois 111 at Engineers Road, south of Interstate 270. Proposed for Trace I are Omni Bank of Pontoon Beach, a nursing home, duplexes, multi-family residences and a facility for the (See TIF, Page 8A)

Von Dee Cruse: Car insurance has Granite City rated wrong

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A chart listing the 25 largest St. Louis area cities published in the April 11-17 St. Louis Business Journal was a real revelation, Mayor Von Dee Cruse said.

"It was all right, listing us seventh and all, and then in almost the last column was automobile insurance rates. It looks like we have been lumped in with Cahokia and East St. Louis," Cruse said.

"According to the chart we, and they, pay $598.70. The cities we would usually consider more our equals pay a lot less.

Arlton is $350, Belleville, O'Fallon and Edwardsville are $350.80, Collinsville is $350.50. I thought, 'My goodness, why in the world would they make us the same as East St. Louis?'

"Just looking it over, if it's right, we've got some questions that deserve answers."

Cruse said he has started checking with insurance representatives and is "going to get" answers. He said that, no matter what the reasoning, he would like to see some statistics backing it up.

"I can't see why we aren't associated with the rest of Medi-son County. Common sense would tell that we belong with the (Metro East) communities to the north, not the south. I never would have thought about us not being there, if I hadn't seen the figures all together," Cruse said.

The Business Journal chart, researched by state auditor Chris Lopata, listed the criteria for the rates as the approximate six-month premiums in each area for a husband and wife, both age 40, the husband driving a 1985 Oldsmobile Cutlass to work and the wife driving a 1980 Ford Mustang for pleasure.

Area officers to be recognized

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Law enforcement officers from area police departments will be honored at the second annual Law Enforcement Recognition Dinner at 6:30 p.m. Monday, May 16.

The event is sponsored by the Crime Prevention and Awareness Committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce and will take place at St. Gregory's Community Center, 10 Colonial Drive, near West Pontoon Road.

The dinner observes National Law Enforcement Recognition Week and is part of the community's month-long Granitefest '88 celebration.

Larry Connors, Channel 4 News Team co-anchorman, will be guest speaker.

Area businesses, industry and governmental groups, plus civic and service organizations, are invited to honor the officers by sending representatives to the dinner and sponsoring an equal number of officers and their spouses as guests.

Law enforcement officers from the police departments of Granite City, Madison, Venice and Pontoon Beach, as well as members of the Madison County Sheriff's Department and the Illinois State Police who serve in the Quad City area, will be honored.

"The purpose of the event is two-fold," said Walter Milton, Crime Prevention and Awareness Committee chairman. "We want to say thank you for the often thankless job of protecting life and property of residents and businesses."

"And we want to promote a better understanding and improved relationships between members of the general public and their law enforcement officials."

The deadline for reservations is May 6. Tickets costing $15 each may be reserved by calling the Chamber office, 876-6500.

Some banks in Illinois want to sell insurance products

SPRINGFIELD — Community bankers in Metro East and throughout Illinois will be in Springfield May 10 and 11 to talk to lawmakers about allowing them to compete with other financial institutions by selling insurance products, said Kenyon Miller, executive vice president of the First State Bank of Potosi.

"The Illinois Insurance Code is completely arbitrary in its prohibition against banks' ability to offer insurance products to their customers," Miller said. He is also director of Group 11 of the Community Bankers Association of Illinois, which represents 500 banks statewide.

"The ability of savings and loan associations, credit unions and finance companies to offer insurance products to their customers places small community banks at an extreme competitive disadvantage," he said.

Miller cited a Consumer Federation of America study which suggests that increased competition in the delivery of insurance products would benefit consumers both in convenience and price.

He also noted "advantages to insurance companies by marketing insurance through such established delivery systems as banks."

After six tries, animal control issue still undecided

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Animal control came before the City Council six separate times Tuesday night, but nothing was changed at the meeting. The control task remains the part-time responsibility of sanitation workers.

A proposed ordinance altering the structure, fees and fines of an Animal Control Department, amended to read Humane Department, failed to reach final passage. The council then voted not to place it on first reading, either.

The ordinance, brought in by 4th Ward Alderman Dan Partney, as an addition to his proposed creation of an animal control officer and assistant animal control officer positions, lost his support after the name change.

The plan creating the new positions, placed on first reading two meetings ago and the cause of an abrupt end to the last meeting, came up for final passage again — and lost.

At last week's council meeting, debate on its final passage was still going strong when time ran out.

Debate resumed, and Partney gave other aldermen a fact sheet showing it was possible for the proposed department to pay for itself within the first year, based on the fees and fines he proposes. He also cited pet population estimates from Madison County Animal Control.

"Statistically, we can show a profit right off the bat, just based on fees. That doesn't include added monies from penalties. Fines will more than make up for any noncompliance. This is a program that is desperately needed in Granite City," Partney said. "Say what you've got to say and then let's vote on it."

"I want to know where you got your numbers. You say 1,319 dogs were picked up last year. Even if the sanitation department worked 365 days a year, which they don't, that is more than four dogs a day," 4th Ward Alderwoman Sharon Perjak said. "It's more than five dogs a day."

"You've got to realize that 70 percent of that figure is cats and it includes a lot of animals that are brought in to us," City Inspector Ervin DeTousse said.

"And your figure for dogs, or animals, 11,500?" Perjak asked.

"That's based on the county figure and their estimate that only 20 percent of the animals in the city are actually registered," Partney said.

"Well that means every household in the city has at least three animals. And I don't believe it," Perjak said.

Seventh Ward Alderman Jeff Worthen said the council had used sound reasoning when it established dual duties for humane department-sanitation department workers and that any animal control personnel should also be available to help with sanitation whenever their workload lightened.

"I'd rather see us hire one or two more sanitation workers and keep the dual availability," Worthen said. "What is really needed is a full-time assistant inspector. Then we could catch up on business licenses and other things. If we are going to spend money to hire someone we should utilize it for the best purpose and get the most out of the person."

"There are ways to get both objectives done. We can move people back into the humane department by increasing the efficiency of the city inspector," Third Ward Alderman Paul Fisk and 1st Ward Alderman Casmer Skubish both said fines and enforcement are the keys to animal control.

"Solving the problems (of cleanup and animal control) will take going through the whole city and then following up with fines when they're needed," Fisk said. "With the fine system, we will see this come under control."

"I'm disturbed by the fact we seem to keep talking about money," 2nd Ward Alderman Jim Miller said. "We have dogs running loose and they are going to hurt someone. I don't care what you call the department, but we must prohibit animals from running at large."

"Why can't you pull back the humane people full time when you get CETA (Comprehensive Employment Training Act) people?" Perjak asked.

"That would be after June," DeTousse said.

"What about juveniles working off fines?" Perjak asked.

"Juveniles, or anybody else working off fines, only work when they want to show up," DeTousse said.

"I want to know why when we've got guns and tranquilizers we don't use them instead of chasing the same dogs over and over," 5th Ward Alderman Lloyd Bailey said. "Shoot them and haul them in. Then we wouldn't have these dogs running the streets."

Sixth Ward Alderman Walter Milton said he wasn't against hiring two more people, but that he wouldn't go along with hiring new animal control personnel without the approval of the existing ones.

"Some of you waste more time. All you do is talk, talk, talk, and I don't have the patience of you men and women," 6th Ward Alderwoman Judy Whitaker said. "I don't know what problem some of you have with the sanitation department. I remember when it had 13 people and nothing got done. Now at least I'm satisfied."

And another thing, I don't care who brings in an ordinance. I hear someone saying I won't vote for that because so-and-so brought it in, and that's a bunch of bull. I don't see this city council going anywhere. We're supposed to be working for the town, not wasting its time."

Third Ward Alderman Brett Hanke used a point-of-order, stating that debate is to be confined to the matter at hand and limited to 30 minutes. This halted the discussion when no one chose to make a motion to extend the debate.

Final passage failed 6-6 with 1st Ward Alderman Everett Morlen, Fisk, Skubish, Perjak, Bailey, Worthen, 7th Ward Alderman Emerald Daves and Milton voting no. Second Ward Alderman Pat Schuman, Hanke, Whitaker, Miller, Partney and 5th Ward Alderman Ralph Astorian voted yes.

Thousands rally to support Medicaid

Approximately 40 associates and volunteers of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, 2100 Madison Ave., were among thousands of citizens who rallied at Springfield on April 30.

The gathering called for action on "the single most critical health care issue facing the state," funding of the Medicaid program.

"We gathered at the Capitol to call attention to this statewide problem," said Ted Ellerman, president of SEMC.

"Carrying signs reading, 'St. Elizabeth Medical Center Supports Quality Care for the Needy,' the SEMC group rallied outside the Capitol building with 2,000 other hospital supporters from throughout the state."

"We needed to have a large turnout like this to give the legislators an idea of the problems hospitals throughout Illinois are facing with Medicaid funding and the slow payment problems. I'm very pleased with the rally," said Paul Raczewicz, SEMC executive vice president.

Gov. James R. Thompson spoke to the group, saying legislators must make "hard choices, not empty promises," on the issue of health care for the poor. He rejects "solutions" that do not pinpoint sources of additional revenue.

"The legislators I heard speak seemed to be sympathetic to the problems we face," Raczewicz said. "I'm hopeful they will take some action to resolve the Medicaid funding crisis."

The state announced April 18 it could not reimburse pharmacies and other health service agencies for Medicaid cases until July, the beginning of the new fiscal year. However, it was announced at the rally that additional money may be appropriated for these bills.

"SEMC currently has about $3.3 million in accounts receivable due to delayed Medicaid payments."

"That is a significant amount of money for this medical center. Medicaid patients are about 18 percent of our business," said Bob Mackin, SEMC director of planning.

Hospitals need the Medicaid reimbursements to meet their payroll and purchase supplies. For some, this is the only way they can keep their doors open to the poor, it was emphasized.

"We've done as much we can with the money available," Gov. Thompson said, calling for a tax increase. "It's time to invest more in ourselves and in Illinois."

SEMC has found both Sen. Sam Vadalabene and State Rep. Sam Wolf to be "very supportive" of SEMC in its efforts, Ellerman said.

Mini-Lotto to replace Lotto 7 game

SPRINGFIELD — The odds will be going up on the Saturday Lotto game, while the Lotto 7 Wednesday game will be eliminated and replaced with three "mini-Lotto" games, the Illinois State Lottery announced.

"I think it's a good," commented Bill Robinson, one of the region's biggest lottery vendors. "People are kind of bored with the old games and the new Saturday game should have bigger jackpots and bring in more people."

Instead of picking six numbers out of a field of 44, starting with the May 7 Lotto drawing players will pick six of 54 numbers. Because of the higher odds, the minimum jackpot will be increased from $3 million to $5 million. Lottery officials expect more frequent rollovers to produce the big jackpots that spur "Lotto fever."

Saturday lotto tickets will continue to carry two sets of numbers for $1. The new tickets will go on sale starting May 1.

Robinson also said he did not believe the Lotto 7 game, started in 1986 with an expensive promotional effort, had lived up to its expectations. "Too many people beat the odds and won it and it didn't roll over enough. A lot of people were also still confusing Lotto 7 with the Saturday game," he said.

The last Lotto 7 drawing will be May 4.

Starting June 1, a new "Cash 5" Lotto game in which players pick five out of 35 numbers will be offered on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

The lower odds are expected to result in multiple Grand Prize winners projected in the $100,000 range for those matching all five numbers. There also will be prizes for matching three and four numbers.

Unlike other Lotto games where jackpot winners usually are paid in 20-year installments, all "Cash 5" prizes will be awarded in lump sum payments.

"In a competitive entertainment market, it is necessary to make changes to keep lottery products fresh and exciting to the consumer. Based on various studies with lottery players and sales agents across the state, we feel the new game lineup will respond to players' key interests, as well as interest new players in the lottery's games," said lottery director Sharon Sharp.

Robinson said his sales have increased this year, particularly to customers coming in from Missouri, and have not been hurt by the "Lotto America" multi-state lottery tickets offered across the river.

Last fiscal year, the Illinois State Lottery sold $1.33 billion in tickets. Of that amount, it paid out $647.2 million in prizes, forwarded $82.2 million in commissions to the vendors, and spent $23.7 million on administrative and advertising costs.

The remaining $542.8 million went into the common school fund, accounting for about one-fourth of the $2.1 billion the state spent on elementary and high schools.

Brick wall panels prompt lawsuit

GRANITE CITY — St. Elizabeth Medical Center has filed suit against the Dow Chemical Co. of Midland, Mich., and Masonry Systems International of Denver. The suit requests compensatory damages for an unspecified amount, punitive damages and attorneys' fees.

The Madison County Circuit Court lawsuit arose out of the use of a mortar additive called Sarabond in brick panels that are part of the SEMC building.

Sarabond was originally manufactured, sold and distributed by Dow Chemical. Later, Dow sold the sale and distribution rights to Masonry Systems International.

A series of hospital additions constructed between 1977 and 1982 used Sarabond in prefabricated exterior brick panels, rather than individually placed bricks.

SEMC alleges that since that time, Sarabond has caused the corrosion of steel in the brick panels, causing a failure of the panels. Further detailed allegations regarding the conduct of Dow and Masonry Systems International are made in the complaint.

Paul Raczkiewicz, SEMC executive vice president, said the hospital is fully aware of the problem and has an ongoing program to assure the safety of patients, visitors and employees of the medical center.

Protective scaffolding has been installed where necessary, including the main entrance. Plans are currently being prepared for repair of the panel areas.

Raczkiewicz said William S. Beatty, Granite City, an attorney for the medical center, is handling the lawsuit.

It is contended that Dow has known since the 1960s that the product was defective but concealed this from customers, allegedly constituting a fraudulent conspiracy.

SEMC says the hospital is safe structurally, but that the weakened brick veneer could have created a falling-bricks hazard had not the hospital taken preventive steps.

It is believed that the wall damage exceeds $2 million. Triple damages may be sought.

Areas affected include the main lobby entrance, Kettler Center, a medical records section, a dietary area and the power plant.

National Steel reports good first quarter

PITTSBURGH — National Steel Corp. has reported a net profit of $18.6 million in the first quarter of 1988 on sales of $618.2 million, compared to a net loss of $5.6 million on sales of $537.4 million in the first quarter of 1987.

Steel shipments in the first quarter of 1988 improved by 10.2 percent to 1,248,000 tons compared to 1,133,000 tons in the same 1987 period.

Raw steel production totaled 1,291,000 tons, up 9.0 percent from the 1,184,000 tons produced in the first quarter of 1987.

This is the company's best first quarter since the joint venture between National Steel and NKK of Japan was formed. First-quarter results this year and in 1987 benefited from investment tax credit refunds of $2.7 million and $18 million, respectively.

Chairman and chief executive officer, Howard M. Love, commenting on the first-quarter improvement, said, "Demand for flat-rolled products was very strong throughout the quarter. That strength is continuing in the second quarter, further boosted by increased automotive build schedules."

At this time, bookings in the early part of the third quarter also look good, especially for the hot rolled product line.

"Our first-quarter operations were helped by the smooth start-up of the No. 2 caster serving the Great Lakes Division," Love added. "The caster is providing a positive impact on the corporation's quality, yield and cost figures."

"However, our overall performance in the first quarter was hurt by equipment breakdowns and unscheduled downtime. The most serious outage occurred as the result of an accident at the basic oxygen furnace at our Granite City Division."

"The accident took one of two BOF vessels out of service for three weeks and caused a serious disruption in our operations."

National Steel's new Technical Research Center in Trenton, Mich., is nearing completion. A grand opening ceremony is scheduled for May 16.

Construction is continuing on a joint venture processing facility, ProCoil Corp., located in Canton Township near Detroit. It will provide first-stage blanking and slitting operations for automotive customers.

Votes will then be counted and prizes awarded May 21. Each picture will indicate the child's name, age, birthdate and phone number.

Church women help women behind bars

GRANITE CITY — "Women in Captivity" will be the theme of May Fellowship Day on May 6 at Nameoki United Methodist Church, 1900 Pontoon Road, said Lena Seitzer, chairman of the event.

May Fellowship Day is an annual event sponsored by the Church Women United of the Quad Cities, bringing together women from 37 churches to focus on specific issues of local concern, Seitzer said.

The featured speaker is Lieut. Joyce Rothman, a shift commander at the Madison County Jail, Edwardsville.

She will talk about the special problems of women and the criminal justice system, such as what happens to their children when they are incarcerated. Rothman is a 40-year resident of Granite City and a graduate of Granite City High School.

The worship materials for the 10:30 a.m. service were jointly prepared by women who have served time in prisons or reformatories and by women who help in their rehabilitation.

Church Women United (CWU) is a national ecumenical movement which works for the elimination of poverty and other issues of peace and justice.

A salad luncheon after the service costs $2. Tickets may be purchased at the door or from CWU representatives at your local church. A portion of the proceeds will go toward furnishing a chapel at the Dwight Correctional Center, Dwight, Ill.

The Illinois state chapter of CWU has already raised $212,000 toward construction of the chapel at the correctional center, which is the only penal institution for women only in the state and the only institution without a chapel. The groundbreaking will take place later this year.

The remainder of the proceeds from the luncheon will go to "The Imperative," a five-year project of the national CWU for studying the causes of pauperization of women and children.

An offering will be taken during the church service. Women participating in the service include: Seitzer, Elizabeth Briggs, Helen Bischoff, Nina Hull, Bertha Oliver and Ena Clemons.

The CWU will be conducting a blood drive June 2-9 from 2-7 p.m. each day at St. Peter's Evangelical United Church of Christ, 2103 Cleveland Blvd. The Red Cross will conduct a training session May 10 at St. Peter's. Anyone interested in donating blood or volunteering for the drive may call 452-2306.

Animals

Animal control issue still undecided

The subject of animal control came up again under intergovernmental affairs when Milton made a motion to transfer the humane officers from the control of the sanitation department to the control of the police department. This failed 3-11 with Morlen, Perjak and Milton voting yes.
Partney brought the issue in again under sanitation when he said the sanitation department had no more overtime money available. Saying the police department has animal control responsibilities, he made a motion to require the sanitation department to leave the animal control truck and the keys to the dog and cat crates to the police department from 4 p.m. to 8 a.m. weekdays and after 4 p.m. Saturdays and all day each Sunday.

"I don't understand what this is supposed to prove," Perjak said.
"Sanitation has used up its overtime and all calls after hours have to go to the police department," Partney said.
"Ery... don't you have a shift option in the contract with these people?" Worthen asked.
"I can put someone on afternoons," DeRousse said.

"With the dual status doesn't he check in for dogs?" Worthen asked.
"He can call in to the police and check," DeRousse said.
"Then the problem's in management, not number of people," Worthen said.
"I can't support this off-the-wall proposal," Milton said.
"We would like to get out of the animal control business," Police Chief Bob Aston said. "We have been picking animals up and we have been transporting them in our cars and taking them to the street department and calling sanitation to get them in the morning. The city has regressed when it comes to humane officers."

"No, I don't want the truck or keys."
The motion failed 3-11 with Partney, Schuman and Skubish voting yes.
Linda Irwin, secretary of the fire and police board, was given permission to address the council and made an impassioned plea for at least one full-time animal control officer.

"When you're helping animals you're helping people," Irwin said. "I think Granite deserves at least one full-time person available to answer the phone. If an animal is half run over on a Saturday night it is not humane to let it lay there. We need a humane officer in Granite City."

The sanitation committee agreed to consider all proposals and make a recommendation at the next meeting.
Early in the meeting, changing the name to the humane department won 8-6 with Morlen, Schuman, Whitaker, Partney and Ralph Astorian opposed.

Adopting the structure, fees and fines, requiring 10 votes failed 7-7 with Perjak joining the above six in opposing the motion.
Changing the structure, fees and fines on first reading, requiring eight votes, then lost 5-9. Those supporting it were Fisk, Hanke, Milton, Worthen and Dawes.

Lack of bridge jams may fool motorists

Lack of bridge jams may fool motorists

Although traffic has been flowing smoothly since the April 15 shutdown of the Martin Luther King Bridge, a state spokesman has a word of warning.
"If they do not stick to the changes they have made in travel to and from work, motorists could still see the horrendous rush-hour traffic congestion that has been predicted," says George Lammers, special projects engineer for the Illinois Department of Transportation.
He said traffic "appeared to be very smooth. People seem to be leaving early (for work) and that is keeping the traffic flowing."
IDOT officials have been elated with the mild traffic flow across the Mississippi River for the first few days of the bridge's closing, Lammers said. Traffic jams and long waits had been predicted. They did not materialize.

The bridge will be closed for repairs until June 1989. That closing will be followed immediately by an estimated three-year project, with lane restrictions, on the Poplar Street Bridge.

In order to keep traffic running

Lack of bridge jams may fool motorists

Lack of bridge jams may fool motorists

ning so well during rush hours, Lammers said, commuters who have started using car and van pools or riding buses will need to continue to do so.
He also encouraged motorists who have started leaving earlier for work to maintain their new schedules.
Lammers said IDOT is concerned that motorists could revert to their former travel plans to reach work. If they do, he said, lengthy traffic jams may still become a reality.
The "high occupancy vehicle" lane on the Eads Bridge—that bridge is now one-way west from 6:30 to 8:30 a.m. weekdays and one-way east from 4 to 6 p.m.—kicked off Monday morning and appeared to be a success, Lammers said.
The HOV lane is designated for buses and smaller vehicles with three or more riders. Vehicles using it are expected to save as much as 15 minutes.
Other measures to ease the traffic congestion have included additional bus routes and the posting of traffic officers at each end of the Eads and McKinley bridges.

The bridge will be closed for repairs until June 1989. That closing will be followed immediately by an estimated three-year project, with lane restrictions, on the Poplar Street Bridge.

Town meeting — lots of nothing

By Mike Myers
St. Louis

GRANITE CITY — More than 150 registered voters gathered for 23 minutes at the Township Hall on April 12 and did next to nothing.
Although a microphone was set up and ready for anyone wishing to bring up matters at the annual town meeting, the microphone was never used.
City Clerk Robert W. Stevens called the meeting to order.
James "Red" Worthen was nominated to serve as moderator and, there being no other nominations, was unanimously elected and then sworn in by Stevens.
Stevens read the minutes of last year's meeting and Township Attorney William Schooley read the bylaws.

Fourth Ward Alderman Dan Partney asked Schooley whether the fact that Nameski Township had refused to relinquish part of newly annexed territory to Granite City had any effect on the legitimacy of the meeting.
Schooley said it didn't.
The attorney then ran through the annual supervisor's report, reading numbers and skipping from page to page in a fashion that appeared to make it impossible to keep track of debts and credits.

"Although there will be no more matching funds," Mr. Partney said, "the township has made sure there will be no cuts in funding and there will be no raise in taxes," Schooley said.

This same report was taken to the City Council meeting April 5 for the signatures of the aldermen. Schooley explained then that if they signed it and dated it for April 12, when legally required, it would save everyone an extra meeting.

Several aldermen complained about being asked to sign a document they had never seen before. Schooley was told that next year they would like a copy more than five minutes before signing. Schooley said he would pass that along to Hagnauer.
The report, although mostly unintelligible through the sound system, was unanimously approved.

Finally, Schooley read a resolution to hire a certified public accountant for the township. This was also unanimously approved.
Schooley moved for adjournment and the meeting ended.

"It surprised me. Here they (citizens) had the opportunity and nobody said anything," Stevens said. "Last year they wanted to know more. Later we'll hear things that should have been said right then, when they had the opportunity."

After the meeting several people who were asked said Hagnauer "must have been at the meeting, but were not absolutely certain."

Six-run third propels Warriors past Tigers

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

EDWARDSVILLE — Bob Stegemeier has given up trying to predict what his team will do. He hasn't given up trying to motivate them.

On the heels of a horrid 15-3 loss to Belleville Aithoff on Wednesday, the Warriors didn't practice at all on Thursday. They had a one-hour talk and a two-mile run. The result was a 7-5 win over area power Edwardsville on Friday.

"I didn't feel practicing would help," said Stegemeier after his team climbed back to the 500 mark again at 11-11. "We played so bad on Wednesday that we just talked. I didn't chew them out. We just talked about some things, they ran two miles and I sent them home. They came to play today."

John Moad pitched hard for 6½ innings before Mike Krausz came out to get the final two outs and the save with the tying run at the plate. Moad is now 5-0.

"John ran out of gas and that's why we have Krausz," Stegemeier said. "He's had a little back trouble that's hurt him starting. But he was able to get the last two outs today."

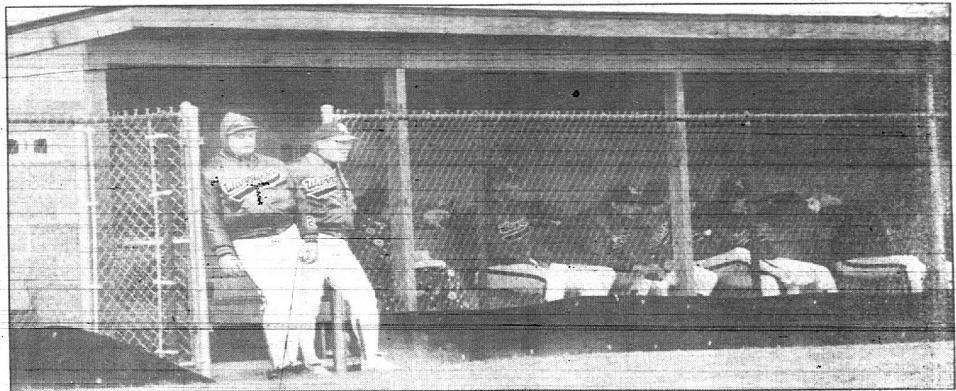

The Warriors built their cushion with a six-run third inning that was aided by a tough sun field in right field — not to mention some shaky defense by the Tigers (14-5). Chris Hampsey started things with a double and scored when Eric Jennings lost Kurt Hodges' fly ball in the sun for a hit.

Chris Ryan bunted back to pitcher Marc Tuttle (2-2), but his throw to third was wild and Chris Bartling scored. Joe Wallace singled to load the bases and Kory Burton's fly ball to right was dropped by second baseman Tim Funkhouser, who went out when Jennings again didn't see the ball.

"When a kid shows up late, maybe you shouldn't start him," Tiger coach Tom Pile said of Jennings. "We have some kids who aren't paying the price, but I can't bench the whole team. We gave them seven outs in an inning. I play slow-pitch softball and we never give the other team seven outs."

FANS AT Warrior baseball games this year couldn't help but notice some construction going on at Varsity Field. Both new dugouts were in use for the first time during Wednesday's game against Belleville Aithoff. Warrior coaches Jack Parker (left) and Bob Stegemeier watch the action while the players relax in comfort. More on the dugouts, which were built by the Granite City High School Boosters Club at a cost of close to $5,000, will appear in a later issue.

APPRECIATION: Devonna Linhart, a case manager for Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Southwestern Illinois, presents a certificate and a plaque of appreciation to Tom Gray, manager of Bowland Lanes in Granite City. Bowland bowlers had pledged of almost $10,000 in Bowl For Kids' Sake to benefit the Big Brothers/Big Sisters program.

Bowland bowlers raise money to aid Big Brothers/Big Sisters

During the week of March 5-11, 165 league bowlers at Bowland participated in Bowl For Kids' Sake for the benefit of Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Southwestern Illinois.

The league bowlers had pledged totaling $9,700 to date. They collected a little more than $7,000.

Albert Yount raised the most money, with $570.47, winning a compact disc player. Ronald Carter was second with $493.86 for a getaway weekend at the Embassy Suites Hotel. Lisa Pluhar won dinner for four at Red Lobster in a random drawing. The overall high score was bowled by Dave Haldeman with a 279.

The response from league bowlers as well as the management and staff at Bowland was outstanding, said Barbara Cempura, executive director of Big Brothers/Big Sisters.

Bowl For Kids' Sake was held at seven bowling centers in Madison and St. Clair counties. Bowland bowlers raised the second highest amount of all bowling centers.

Funds raised through this event will be used to recruit new volunteers and to provide direct services to children. Big Brothers/Big Sisters has been serving children in the Granite City area since September 1986. Service has been provided to more than 25 children in the community in the past year.

Lady kickers blanked by Rams

By Don Daniels
Correspondent

ST. LOUIS — Things were not looking good for the Lady Warrior soccer team Thursday, both on the field and in the health department.

Granite City, playing without leading scorer Jennifer Debevoise, was not able to convert chances into goals as the Warriors lost to Riverview Gardens 4-0.

Coach Gene Baker was facing off against a team from Riverview for the first time in several years. It was, of course, his first-ever match against the Rams as coach of the Granite City girls team. Riverview was the first high school at which Baker coached soccer back in 1968. He started the Rams' soccer program then. A photo of Baker and his original Ram team still hangs on the wall at the high school.

"That was back when they played soccer in the winter," Baker said. "The picture that hangs up at school was taken after a muddy game and it looks like a picture from the times of Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid."

Being well remembered didn't earn Baker any breaks from Lady Ram coach Frank McHugh or from the referees on Thursday, however. While the first half was relatively even, the second half was dominated by Riverview, with the Rams putting in three unanswered goals in the final period.

The first half started well enough for the Lady Warriors. Sophomore Carrie Ross, working very hard early, made several quick runs down the right wing. Ross was not stopped by Riverview wingbacks in the first 20 minutes, as she raced around and by the Ram fullbacks on several occasions. Only when it came time to either make the crossing pass or go to the goal did Ross have trouble. With most of the Warrior forwards moving away from her and with little backup support, Ross had little success near the goal.

The tide began to turn against the Lady Warriors in the last 10 minutes of the half. Contact in the box between a Ram forward and Granite City goalkeeper Addie Lenzi resulted in a penalty kick for the Rams. Lenzi had raced out to cut off an onrushing forward when she swiped at the ball and missed. The defense was there to knock the ball away, but Lenzi's momentum had taken her into the Ram formation. A penalty kick was called by the referee. Riverview's Angie Frederikson converted the kick for her ninth goal of the year.

A minute before the half, junior Cheryl Stacey knocked a ball off the crossbar and the half ended with Riverview up 1-0. Stacey had The Lady Warriors' best chance in the second half as well. She created several offensive opportunities on the left wing, but was only able to get off a few hurried shots as the Ram defense quickly swarmed around her. Her best shot from in front went wide.

What little offense mustered by the Lady Warriors was returned threefold by the Rams. Early in the half, Frederikson hit an excellent cross that was answered by a perfect headball from JoAnne Whitehead. Thereafter, Lenzi would go as the Rams went ahead 2-0.

Bridget Biscoe was a menace in the last 15 minutes. Four times she came running up the middle and raced past the Lady Warrior defense. The first run by Biscoe resulted in a goal when Lenzi was forced to come out from a bad angle and Biscoe easily flipped the ball in the goal.

Biscoe blew by a few minutes later, but Lenzi was out quickly to scoop the ball up before any damage was done. Not more than a minute later Biscoe was back at it again. The time as Biscoe was about to make a move toward goal, Beth Epperson knocked the Ram forward's legs out from under her. Biscoe left the game, but a penalty kick was awarded and Jennifer Doyles, the Rams' leading scorer, put in the final goal, her 10th of the year.

Riverview raised its record to 8-3-3, while the Lady Warriors fell to 8-2-1. Granite City's two losses have been to two of North St. Louis' top teams, with the other loss being to Incarnate Word Academy. The Warriors host Hazelwood Central on Monday and play at Hazelwood West on Wednesday.

The Tigers chipped away with a run in the third and one in the fifth. But Moad escaped a bases-loaded jam in the third when Gary Burns flied out. Burns also left two on in the fifth when he grounded out. The Tigers stranded 10 in the game.

Center fielder Tony Lockett made a sensational diving catch in the fourth to rob Craig Dippel of a triple, but Dippel came back to make it 7-2 with an RBI single in the sixth to drive in Hodges, who had been hit by a pitch with two outs.

The Warriors had 12 hits, but many of them failed to impress Pile.

"We call them Granite City hits," he said of the fly balls that dropped in right field. "We used to call them Roxana hits, but now, we know them as Granite City hits."

"I won't hesitate to say we were lucky today," said Stegmeyer. "But we have lost some games on chinkers. I hope this gives us a boost. But it's hard to tell what inspires this team."

The Tigers loaded the bases on two hits and an error in the seventh. A fielder's choice and a hit by Lockett, who had before Krausz came in. Since he had been the designated hitter, he had to replace shortstop Chad Lignoul, whom he had been hitting for. Moad moved to shortstop and had the first ball hit to him for another forecourt as a run scored to make it 7-5. Krausz then fanned Craig Bollman to end the game.

"We don't have any speed on defense," said Pile, whose team is 3-4 since an 11-game winning streak put them a No. 6 national ranking in USA Today. The Tigers did rally with four runs in the sixth to beat Althoff 6-4 on Thursday, however. "We're 14-5 and struggling."

"I enjoy winning here," said Stegmeyer. "It's always a good rivalry and we were up today."
